Dear Kris,

I'm writing to follow-up on our phone conversation a few weeks ago. I suspect you are now at CITES; I'm in London until the end of the week. Could we find a time to connect? I am anxious that the Orangutan SSP Workshop is in just a couple of weeks.

Many thanks,

Kris Vehrs <KVehrs@aza.org>

Dear

I sent you a note but it clearly didn't go through. I will have to find it on my laptop later today.

Dear

I am not sure why this email never made it through but this is what I thought I sent you late last week.

Kris

Dear

I wanted to get back to you about our conversation regarding Ronda Schwetz and the upcoming Orangutan SSP Workshop in Fort Wayne at the end of this month. As you are aware, AZA has already addressed Ronda's conduct at the Seattle conference and expects no repetition of said conduct. Because of the nature of the complaint in Seattle and the subsequent way it was handled, AZA is unable to tell Ms. Schwetz that she cannot attend a meeting based on what may transpire at that meeting. This is speculative at best.

As your past dealings, including your unsuccessful wage dispute, make you uncomfortable with Ronda, my recommendation to you is do not put yourself in a position where you are alone with her. Of course, if there were a problem at this meeting we would address it then. My cell phone number is 301-332-9573. I'm also providing you with the cell phone of AZA's legal counsel, Jack Keeney – 301-655-1973.

Thank you for being willing to raise the issue with me.

Sincerely,

Kris
